A large, illuminated marquee for the musical "Chicago" is shown at night. The word "CHICAGO" is in large, red, stylized letters. A woman in a black dress and white gloves is lying horizontally across the top of the letters. Below "CHICAGO" are the words "THE MUSICAL" in smaller, white, sans-serif capital letters. Below the main marquee is a long, dark rectangular sign with white text. The entrance area features a brick wall with several posters and two glass doors with red signs above them. A crowd of people is gathered in front of the entrance.
